

Medical Review Officers...Are you missing something?

ACOEM's MRO Update newsletter will keep you informed on regulations that affect your work;
aware of upcoming trends/technology; and alert to what is happening in your field all over the United States and Canada.

Editor of the MRO Update is Robert Swotinsky, MD, MPH, a nationally recognized expert in the field of occupational medicine and editor of The Medical Review Officer's Manual, 2nd edition (2002). Dr. Swotinsky is an occupational physician and MRO with Fallon Clinic and Metro West Medical Center in central Massachusetts. He is on the Medical Review Officer Certification Council's Examination Development Committee and has served on the faculty for ACOEM's MRO training courses.

Every issue includes:

- ◆ Clear, concise, and practical articles on topics such as marketing of drug-testing services, split-specimen procedures, alcohol breath test devices, on-site testing, and state regulations;
- ◆ Timely question-and-answer column; and
- ◆ Updates on federal regulations (Department of Transportation, etc.) as they occur.

If you've been missing out on this valuable resource, now is the time to place your order. Published ten times per year, the cost is $200 to ACOEM members and $225 to non-members.
