Strategic Management Needs in Health & Productivity

Act now to order your copy of the Strategic Management Needs in Health & Productivity. It reports on the role and influence of Corporate Medical Directors (CMDs) in health and productivity management (HPM) and identifies their needs in this area. Review these survey results to find out more about CMDs' interest in HPM, their influence over specific benefit program decisions, their perceptions regarding the productivity impact of specific conditions, and their desire for/receptivity to programs and services from associations, vendors and suppliers, such as pharmaceutical companies.
